FUNDAMENTALS OF SPORTSMANSHIP

Reprinted from the SDHSAA Newsletter

One of the missions of co-curricular school activities is to serve as an extension of the classroom.

There are strong lessons to be learned in athletics, speech and music. One of those lessons is to set and maintain high standards of sportsmanship, ethics and integrity in our society. It is up to each of us to provide the direction under which good sportsmanship can prosper and have a positive impact on our society.

As we begin the school year, please take a few minutes to emphasize to your students, coaches, and fans what is expected of the at an athletic event as a competitor or spectator. After all, such events are an extension of the school day, and we should expect the same type of respectful behavior exhibited in the athletic arena as we do in the classroom. We urge you to ask your community to demonstrate self-control and self-discipline and at the same time, enjoy the games.

Everyone should keep the following fundamentals in mind while attending a high school event.

- Gain an Understanding and Appreciation for the Rules of the Contest. The necessity to be well informed is essential. Know the rules. If you are uninformed, refrain from expressing opinions on the officials, coaches, players or administrative decisions.
- Exercise Representative Behavior at All Times. Good sportsmanship requires one to understand personal prejudices that may become a factor in his/her behavior. The true value of interscholastic competition relies on everyone exhibiting behavior which is representatives of a sound value system.
- Recognize and Appreciate Skilled Performance Regardless of Affiliation. Applause for an opponent's good performance displays generosity and is a courtesy that should be regularly practiced. This not only represents good sportsmanship, but also reflects a true awareness of the game by recognizing and acknowledging quality.
- Exhibit Respect for the Officials. The officials of any contest are impartial arbitrators who are trained and who perform to the best of their ability. Mistakes by those involved in the contest are part of the game. We should not rationalize our own poor or unsuccessful performance or behavior by placing responsibility on the officials.
- Display Openly a Respect for Opponents. Opponents are guests and should be treated cordially, and with thoughtfulness. They should be treated the same as a guest in your own home.
- Display Pride in Your Actions at Every Opportunity. Never allow your ego to interfere with good judgment. Regardless of whether you are a student, player, coach or official, this value is paramount since it suggests that you care about yourself and how others perceive you.
- Always Practice the Golden Rule. Always treat others the way you would expect them to treat you.

Remember: Sportsmanship Begins with You!

INTRODUCTION

CHEYENNE-EAGLE BUTTE ATHLETIC PHILOSOPHY

The Cheyenne-Eagle Butte Athletic Department will strive to provide a positive environment dedicated to achieving excellence in athletics, academics, cultural, and spiritual personal development, which will prepare student athletes to become ambassadors of the Lakota way of life to benefit our society in a lasting and meaningful way.

Athletics play an important part in the life of students at Cheyenne-Eagle Butte. Our students learn a great deal from their participation in interscholastic athletics. Lessons in sportsmanship, teamwork, competition and how to win and lose gracefully are an integral part of each team in our athletic program. Athletics also play an important part in helping the individual student develop a healthy self-concept as well as a healthy body. Athletic competition adds to our school spirit: helping all students and spectators, as well as athletes, develop pride in our school.

BELIEF STATEMENTS:

1. Athletics help develop stronger bodies and healthier lifestyles.
2. Athletes learn sportsmanship and the value of teamwork while practicing and playing sports.
3. Athletics promote self-esteem and self-worth.
4. Interscholastic competition provides a medium for school spirit and school pride for the student body and community.
5. Athletic programs are an important and necessary part of the total school experience. Participation is a privilege that carries responsibilities to the school, to the activity, to the student body, to the community and to the students themselves.
6. Athletics provide wholesome opportunities for students to develop favorable habits and attitudes of social and group interactions.
7. Leadership qualities of many athletes are improved with athletic programs.
8. Student activities are considered a supplement to the school's program of education, which strives to provide experiences that will help to develop boys and girls physically, mentally, socially, and emotionally.
9. Athletics also gives our students an opportunity to compete against non-native students from other schools gaining and earning respect and also giving our students an opportunity to create change through reconciliation.
10. The interscholastic athletic program shall be conducted in accordance with existing NFHS, SDHSAA, and C-EB policies. Rules and regulations. While we take great pride in winning, we will not condone "winning at any cost" and discourage any and all pressures, which might tend to neglect good sportsmanship and good mental health. At all times, the athletic program must be conducted in such a way so as to justify it as an educational activity.

CODE OF SPORTS ETHICS FOR COACHES

High School interscholastic sports are unique in their mission to provide educational opportunities for students through athletic programs sponsored by their schools.

As a coach, you carry the primary responsibility to teach students how to reason, make choices and understand the impact of their decisions on others. These opportunities to teach occur throughout your sport season. The students hear your words as you talk to them and their teammates. They see how you treat their opponents and observe your respect for the letter and spirit of the rules.

The lessons you teach must be compatible with the educational mission of your school district. They must support and ensure fair play and honorable competition, treating people with dignity and respect, ensure equity, fairness and justice and activities, which enhance healthy lifestyles.

As a coach, you are expected to model positive sport ethics based on the moral guides of justice, honesty, responsibility and beneficence/producing good.

NFHS-COACHES CODE OF ETHICS

The function of a coach is to educate students through participation in interscholastic competition. An interscholastic program should be designed to enhance academic achievement and should never interfere with opportunities for academic success. Each student should be treated with utmost respect, and his or her welfare should be considered in decisions by the coach at all times. Accordingly, the following guidelines for coaches have been adopted by the NFHS Board of Directors.

The coach shall be aware that he or she has a tremendous influence, for either good or ill, on the education of the student and thus, shall never place the value of winning above the value of instilling the highest ideals of character.

The coach shall uphold the honor and dignity of the profession. In all personal contact with students, officials, athletic directors, school administrators, the state high school athletic association, the media, and the public, the coach shall strive to set an example of the highest ethical and moral conduct.

The coach shall take an active role in the prevention of drug, alcohol and tobacco abuse.

The coach shall avoid the use of alcohol and tobacco products when in contact with players.

The coach shall promote the entire interscholastic program of the school and direct his or her program in harmony with the total school program.

The coach shall master the contest rules and shall teach them to his or her team members. The coach shall not seek an advantage by circumvention of the spirit or letter of the rules.

The coach shall exert his or her influence to enhance sportsmanship by spectators, both directly and by working closely with cheerleaders, pep clubs sponsors, booster clubs, and administrators.

The coach shall respect and support contest officials. The coach shall not indulge in conduct which would incite players or spectators against the officials. Public criticism of officials or players is unethical.

The coach should meet and exchange cordial greetings with the opposing coach to set the correct tone for the event before and after the contest.

The coach shall not exert pressure on faculty members to give students special consideration.

The coach shall not scout opponents by any means other than those adopted by the league and/or state high school athletic association.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Athletic injuries are inherent to sports participation and athletic personnel who operate in an unprecedented environment of legal exposure. Sports risk can never be eliminated, but it must be minimized. Risk management requires ongoing and proactive planning, and management activities, designed to reduce, minimize or transfer hazards and risks. All coaches assume the expectation of parents and the legal system for implementing the most current and innovative, “best practices” in risk prevention and reduction as specified by 14 legal duties. Risk management is a responsibility that is shared by the entire athletics department. The 14 legal duties and standards of care also have implications for advisors in other student activities.

Sports risk has two components. The primary concern is any injury or illness that negatively impacts the health of an athlete or the quality of the athletic experience. Secondly is the risk of legal liability to the school district and/or coach whose consequence may be legal, Financial, social, emotional, and professional.

Most athletic personnel are well aware of the risks associated with sports and are concerned about their personal exposure to liability. Unfortunately, some coaches regard risk management as a nuisance responsibility that reduces time for other coaching duties. It is important to note that “keeping the child from harm’s way” must be placed above all other considerations.

Sport liability is usually based upon negligence that can be defined as “a failure to exercise reasonable care, under all the circumstances, in some specific aspect of an interscholastic athletic program which acts as both the actual cause and the proximate cause of an injury.”

Coaches are held to a higher, legal standard than ordinary care when supervising athletes because they are considered to be trained professionals who possess higher knowledge and skill that enables them to foresee the potential for preventable injury. The expectation of “prudent professionalism” in athletics has evolved from four factors.

- Sports injury statistics – approximately 67% of school injuries occur in sports programs and about 67% of those injuries occur during practice.
- Educational sports – certified teachers and administrators are the norm in educational institutions and the same level of professional conduct is now expected of coaches.
- Child advocacy – schools exist to enhance the growth of children in all domains.
- “In Loco Parentis” – the legal principle of school personnel as “parents away from home” Has become a standard that mandates that all educators must do everything possible, at all times, to safeguard the health and safety of children under their supervision.

Negligence in sports is usually linked to the failure to fulfill a specific legal duty. “Negligence by omission” is the failure to act as a “reasonable, prudent person.” “Committing a hazardous act” is also negligence. “Gross negligence,” intentional harm, criminal acts or reckless disregard for human safety - - is an uncommon, but much more serious charge.

Risk Management in sports begins with a thorough understanding of the 14 legal duties that, the courts have determined, are “owed to student-athletes” as well as a paradigm shift from outdated “standards of practice” to more current “standards of care” that will safeguard student-athletes.

LEGAL DUTIES OWED TO STUDENT-ATHLETES:

1. The duty of proper planning. This fundamental duty requires comprehensive thought and organization throughout the athletic department. Written plans should precede and direct practices, and kept, reviewed and updated as needed. Negligence can be alleged for injury loss related to either the absence of planning, poor planning or failure to adhere to an established plan. Proper planning calls for printed materials (i.e. handbooks, practice plans, forms and checklists) and established procedures.
2. The duty of qualified supervision. Omission or incompetence are the major sources of breach of this duty. Typical omissions are leaving students unsupervised in facilities and the failure to control inappropriate behaviors that result in injury. Reasonable care in both the general supervision of all areas and activities which are even peripherally related and the specific supervision of the participants is the standard. Supervision is a very broad and inclusive duty and probably the most important to the courts. The coach must be physically present, properly instruct direct activities, prevent foreseeable injuries, properly respond to injuries, secure facilities, control reckless behavior, and supervise assistant coaches. The effect of age dictates closer supervision for younger athletes.
3. The duty to assess conditioning and readiness to participate. This duty involves the use of reasonable care in determining whether or not an athlete is prepared to perform a specific skill or activity with respect to his/her health, maturation, coordination and physical conditioning, etc. It is mandatory that athletes participating on a high school team have a current SDHSAA physical examination prior to either practice or competition. Once an athlete has received medical attention, clearance must be received before returning to practice or competition. It is also essential that athletic trainers be allowed to perform their professional responsibilities without interference from coaches or parents. Coaches should be careful not to exceed the scope of their training by encouraging players to play with injuries or resume activity prematurely. Medical histories and injury records need to be maintained and medical restrictions to participation must be followed. Coaches are also expected to be knowledgeable in conditioning techniques so workouts progressively increase in frequency, intensity and time. Practice plans should document attention to the maturity and readiness of the athlete’s preseason conditioning program and climatic conditions such as temperature and humidity.
4. The duty to provide a safe playing environment involves attention to athletic facilities – gymnasiums, fields, courts, weight rooms, and equipment. Issues include the proper use of facilities and equipment, inspection checklists, maintenance schedules and inclement weather protocols. Once again, coaches are expected to identify foreseeable causes of injury due to unsafe facilities, defective equipment and hazardous environments. Providing a safe environment often requires the cooperative efforts of custodians, buildings and ground personal, maintenance staff, parks departments, coaches and administrators.
5. The duty to provide protective athletic gear and equipment such as helmets, masks, shoulder pads, mouthpieces and footwear, including mandating their use as a condition of participation. Gear should be appropriate for the age of the participant and the level of competition. NOCSAE and ASGMA standards should be followed when purchasing new equipment. Equipment should be properly issued and fitted by trained coaches and equipment managers. Coaches should require and monitor the proper use and inspect the condition of protective equipment, and ensure that equipment is not altered, resulting in a potential lapse in product liability insurance. AEMA certified personnel should be contracted to inspect and recondition protective equipment during the off-season. Because a school district's liability insurance typically covers only school sponsored programs and staff members, it is not acceptable to loan equipment (e.g. helmets, poles, etc.) to either athletes or other schools. If a catastrophic injury occurs, the involved piece of equipment should be confiscated and secured for potential litigation.

6. The duty of proper instruction. Failure to properly instruct has been referred to as "educational malpractice." Appropriate instruction in technique, sport specific skills, contest rules and safety precautions must be provided prior to participation in athletic competitions. Coaches should warn against and discipline unsafe techniques and prohibited practices. Practice plans should document a logical sequence of experiences that result in a progression of player knowledge and skill. Coaches should be certified, qualified, and motivated to continue their professional development.

7. The duty to properly match and equate participants minimizes the potential for injury. Although it is often impossible to control mismatches during competition, reasonable efforts must be made to equate participants during practice situations and when the risk of injury is particularly great. (e.g. Football drills and wrestling). Competitions that match different squads (e.g. JV vs Frosh) in certain sports are not advisable. Scrimmages between various levels should be strictly controlled so they are learning experiences (i.e. coaches on the field to officiate, instruct, align, call plays, monitor mismatches, and ensure rest and water breaks, etc.) To emphasize learning, rather than competition, it is advisable not to keep score. The matching or pairing of athletes should consider size, age, strength, speed, skill, experience and incapacitating conditions.

8. The duty to properly condition athletes. Practice plans should document a progression of circular-respiratory and muscular-skeletal fitness with attention to proper warm-up and cool down periods. When planning conditioning activities, consideration should be given to the readiness and maturation of the athletes as well as climatic conditions. Plans should also document a sequential progression toward more challenging practices that prepare for competition. The courts have not been sympathetic to coaches that cause injury by coercing or embarrassing athletes in order to motivate them to work harder during conditioning workouts.

9. The duty to provide adequate warning. Never assume that athletes and their parents understand the risks of sports participation. There is a duty to give detailed warnings about the risks involved in a specific sport activity. Failure to warn is one of the most prevalent allegations in sports injury litigation. Athletes (and parents) assume only those risks which are inherent and which they fully understand and appreciate. Parents and players must be informed of inherent risks, unsafe practices, and the potential for injury, disability and even death at preseason meetings. Informed consent and acknowledgment of risk forms must be signed by players and parents and should be reinforced with video presentations, warning posters, and verbal warnings during practice, proper instruction and consistent disciplinary measures for unsafe techniques and prohibited practices. It is advisable to "paper trail" with practice plans that document that warnings and instruction were provided. The use of liability waivers for youth sports participation has limited value because neither minors nor their parents can legally waive their rights.

10. The duty to ensure insurance coverage for injury for athletes. Athletic personnel should verify that either family or student insurance provides a basic level of health and medical insurance coverage prior to participation. Schools are also encouraged to take advantage of the catastrophic insurance that is offered by state athletic associations. Coaches that conduct sports camps during the out-of-season period should either purchase liability insurance or affiliate the camp with an insured organization such as a city recreation department.

11. The duty to provide emergency care implies that coaches administer approved, prioritized, standard first aid procedures in response to a range of traumatic injuries and medical conditions. The courts expect reasonable care in immediate medical assistance until qualified medical personnel arrive. This duty strongly suggests certification and renewal for first aid and CPR. Whenever a team travels, the coach should have consent for medical treatment forms for each athlete to ensure care.

12. The duty to activate the emergency response plan that is established for specific sites and situations. Each site should have a plan for who will: get the first aid kit, administer emergency care, call 911 to activate emergency medical services, give accurate direction to the site and entrance, meet the ambulance, supervise other participants, etc.

13. The duty to provide safe transportation. Schools have the duty to exercise reasonable care in the selection and supervision of transportation to and from athletic practices and contests. Athletes should never be allowed to drive or ride with other students on trips. In extenuating situations, students may be allowed to ride with their parents or adult relatives if the appropriate form is submitted and visual contact is made with the adult. Coaches and supervisors also have the responsibility for controlling student behavior during transportation.

14. The duty to select and train coaches. The duty of “responding superior” is a duty of the athletic director, principal and head coach. It involves expectations for the screening, interviewing, selecting, training, supervising, and evaluating of coaches based upon their specific qualifications, professional credentials, job description and code of ethics.

There is a proper uniform system of command that should be followed in parent/guardian submitting complaints and concerns.

- 24-hour rule for parent complaints/concerns. Do not call or contact the coaching staff on game day or within 24 hours after the completion of the competition. Coaches and advisors have a great number of tasks to prepare and complete before and after events.
